HAS MEMBERSHIP OF OVER TWO HUNDRED

Portsmouth Girls Club Has Grown Rapidly and is Daily Increasing in Popularity With the Young People

There is no more active organization in this city than the Portsmouth Girls' Club, although but three years old has a membership of over two hundred girls and it is rapidly increasing.

The club home consists of a suite of three rooms in the upper story of what was formerly known as the Rockingham Bank Building, now occupied by

Chas. J. Wood, tailor. The apartment is delightfully homelike and consists of the well equipped kitchen making the serving of luncheons possible. This feature is much appreciated by the out-of-town girls who enjoy the privilege of getting a hot luncheon served in a wholesome, homelike way. Luncheons are served on every Monday and Wednesday noons, from twelve to two o'clock, and about twenty girls enjoy the same.

Several luncheons have been given by friends of the club during the winter and were greatly enjoyed. The girls stove makes possible individual luncheons when desired.

The dining room is very pleasant and the table is set very attractively for the luncheons. The set of dishes is very pretty and was given by friends of the club. The silver was also donated. All this is greatly appreciated by the club members.

The spacious assembly room with its piano, reading table filled with the popular magazines, the circulating library and the music which has been given by the girls, has a very homelike atmosphere. It is here that the various classes are held, as well as the card parties, dancing assemblies, socials and entertainments which are conducted.

The classes, under competent instructors are well patronized.

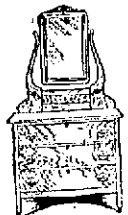

On Monday evening, the gymnasium class is conducted under the instruction of Miss Inez Svenson. At the conclusion of the regular gymnastic exercises, folk dancing is enjoyed. The folk dances are very pretty and much favored by the members of this popular class.

On Tuesday evening, the shirt waist class is held, with Miss Margaret Goodwin, as teacher. It is surprising how much the girls have accomplished in this class since last October when it was started. Some

DOLLAR DAY IN PORTSMOUTH

Will Be the Greatest Bargain Day in the History of the City.

Saturday, March 14th, will be Dollar Day in Portsmouth and will be the greatest bargain day in the history of the city, when a dollar will have an increased purchasing power of 25 per cent and even more.

It is hoped that the people of Portsmouth, Rye, Greenland, New Castle, Hampton, North Hampton, Hampton Falls, Durham, Lee, Newmarket, Newington, Elliot, South Elliot, Rye Beach, Kittery, York and Stratham will avail themselves of the exceptional opportunity to the mutual advantage of themselves and the business interests of Portsmouth.

The merchants of this city are offering unexcelled bargains for that day, not only for the dollar, but remarkable discounts have been made on pianos, ranges, suits, coats, shoes, etc. In fact on everything that is worth a considerable sum a big discount is allowed. The large and well stocked stores of the city will be especially attractive on this date and will offer the latest in spring goods.

TALKS TO LARGE CONGREGATION

Rev. E. F. Quirk Delivers Eloquent Sermon on Tuesday Evening.

One of the largest congregations that has been seen for many years, at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, was present at the Lenten service on Tuesday evening. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Edmund F. Quirk of the Woodsville parish and it was his first appearance on the pulpit in his native city. He took for his text "Do Penance or Ye Likewise Shall Perish." The young clergyman touched and swayed the large religious assembly with every sentence of his discourse. He is a most forceful and interesting speaker and the congregation was delighted with his work from start to finish. Special music was rendered by the choir and the service concluded with benediction by Rev. W. J. White. Tonight Rev. Father Quirk will speak at the St. Mary's church at Dover.

WAR VETERANS' CONVENTION

Spanish-American Soldiers to Meet Here on Fast Day.

The Annual Encampment of the United Spanish-American War Veterans of this state will take place in this city next month. The arrangements for entertaining the several delegates is in the hands of a general committee from Camp Schley and it is certain that the convention here will be a busy and most enjoyable one. It will occur on Fast Day and the several camps of the state will be represented on the occasion.

FIRST TIME IN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Democrats Take Advantage of Political Fight and Win Out.

A row among the republicans at Wolfeboro ended in a political surprise on Tuesday when the democrats at the town meeting elected for the first time in 25 years a full board of selectmen. The progressives are given credit for playing a strong hand in the game which turned over the town to the party which has for so many years been in the minority.

HINDS WILL RUN FOR CONGRESS

Col. Hale Will Not Oppose Him in the Primaries.--Says Republican Party Should Enter Fight United

Congressman Asher C. Hinds has finally definitely decided to be a candidate for the Republican nomination in the first Maine district at the following later written in the chairman of the York county Republican committee shows:

Washington, D. C., March 7, 1914.

Hon. Aaron D. Cole Elliot, Me., Dear Mr. Cole:—I received your letter yesterday announcing the action of the York county committee, on Thursday last and I wish to express through you to the county committee my appreciation of their confidence and trust in me and to assure them I will certainly do all I can to merit their confidence. Furthermore I note by you officially that I shall be a candidate in the primaries that I have begun to circulate nomination papers. Very truly yours,

Asher C. Hinds. Col. Frederic Hale, who recently returned to Portland from Europe yesterday gave the following statement:

Portland, March 10, 1914. Since my return to Portland I have been repeatedly asked what my attitude in the matter of the Republican nomination for Congress in the first district, would be. In February my friends asked me in Paris that Mr.

LEWIS E. STAPLES, MARKET STREET

TO MAKE PLACE FOR TAFT ON THE SUPREME BENCH

New York, March 10.—The Herald prints the following this morning under Washington date of yesterday.

Prof. William Howard Taft of New Haven, Conn., formerly President of the United States, will be appointed to the United States Supreme Court Justice by President Wilson. This information comes to the Herald from an unquestioned authority.

From the same authoritative source it is learned that the resignation of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of Massachusetts will make the vacancy which Mr. Taft will fill.

The date of Mr. Taft's appointment is contingent upon the time required for the disposition of important cases which have the special consideration of Justice Holmes, but it is regarded as certain that Mr. Taft will become his Yale professorship within a year.

That Justice Holmes desires to divest himself of judicial cares and responsibilities is the sole motive for his contemplated action. It is hinted, however, that his resolve to be relieved of the exacting duties which have engrossed his time and attention for 12 years is reinforced and hastened by a desire to see Mr. Taft on the Supreme bench.

It is said that President Wilson has sounded Mr. Taft on the matter several months ago and that Mr. Taft, after consideration, expressed his willingness—even eagerness—to go on the bench.

GETTING READY TO FLY ACROSS OCEAN

New York, March 10.—Lieut. John C. Porto, a retired British naval aviator, who is to pilot the Rodman Wagon trans-Atlantic flyer, sailed today for England on the Lusitania. He has spent more than a week with Glen H. Curtis at Hammondsport, looking over the machine and making various suggestions as to design and equipment. Lieut. Porto plans to return to this country in about a month and remain until the flight takes place. He will bring with him several instruments, some of them of his own devising, which he hopes will be of value in the ocean flight.

"The hardest problem ahead of me," Lieut. Porto said, "is to tell at just what height we should fly in order to get the most advantage of the steady air currents above the earth. If tests had been made by captive balloons on a fairly extensive scale, we would know for a certainty what we must now guess at. Such work on the part of the weather bureau will soon be a regular part of its duty. I expect the trip to Europe will be made at an elevation of 5000 feet or there-

ANOTHER CHANGE IN CENSUS REPORTS

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Directed by William J. Harris, of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, announces a change in the method of publishing the statistics of cotton.

The annual reports on the quantity of cotton ginned have heretofore included the quantity of lint obtained by the oil mills. Formerly there was only a comparatively small quantity of lint attached and they were of such a grade as could be used, to some extent, for the same purposes as were the lower grades of cotton. Many of the oil mills have now installed machinery for the closer detinting of the seed. This has resulted in a large increase in the total quantity of lint produced each year and, at the same time, in lowering the average quality of the lint, so that now only a small part if any, is used as a substitute for lint cotton.

It, therefore, appears advisable not to include the quantity of lint in the total production of cotton for the crop, and, accordingly, the totals in the report to be issued on March 20 will relate only to lint cotton and will not include linters. Information as to the production of linters, however, will be given in a footnote so that comparative figures may be computed on the basis of the reports issued in previous years.

FIVE MINUTE CURE IF STOMACH IS BAD

When "Pape's Diapensin" Reaches Stomach all Indigestion, Gas and Sourness Disappears.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapensin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in relieving sick, sour, gassy stomachs; its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach troubles have made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should get something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and indigestion—remember as soon as Pape's Diapensin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes, its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

THIRTY-ONE STILL MISSING FROM CLUB HOUSE FIRE

St. Louis, March 10.—The real extent of the calamity caused by the fire which destroyed the Missouri Athletic Club building yesterday, it is believed will begin to unfold itself today when firemen enter the ruins in search of the score or more of bodies thought to be buried there.

Careful checking up of those known to have been at the clubhouse Sunday night and those heard from since the fire, resulted in a death list of 31. This number may be slightly increased.

Joseph Wolfson of Caruthersville, Mo., who was reported last night as among the missing, is the Athletic Club fire, is safe. He called up the committee of the club today.

What appeared to be a human body can be seen wedged between the fire escape and the last remaining wall, just below a seven-story window.

Seven dead were taken from the building yesterday, and 24 others who are known to have been in the building at the time of the fire have been given up as dead by their friends.

Jointly contributed for such work. His subject, "Types of Massachusetts roads," is one upon which his authority cannot be doubted.

Mr. Hill is now chief engineer of one of the largest road construction corporations in the United States. His subject, "Economics of a Contractor's Organization," is in direct line with his work and one on which he is especially adapted to talk. He will, incidentally, expose the wastes which accrue through town organizations. This will be of particular interest to our selectmen and city officials.

"EAT MORE SALMON LESS MEAT"

Thus Would Commissioner of Fisheries Reduce Cost of Living.

"To reduce the cost of living, eat more salmon, especially of the cheaper grade, and less meat." This is the advice of Dr. Hugh M. Smith, Federal Commissioner of Fisheries, in a statement today, enunciating the important factors in favor of salmon as an article of food as compared with meat. He asserts that not only is salmon cheaper than meat, but will keep indefinitely if unopened, while the latter spoils quickly, in the home. To prove his assertion that salmon is cheaper than meat, Dr. Smith compares the average retail prices of these products in Washington on Feb. 10. One pound of canned red salmon of the best quality will cost about 75

MELLEN'S DEMURRER UPHELD BY COURT

Bridgeport, Conn., March 10.—A demurrer setting up that there was insufficiency of information in the complaint which charged Ex-Pres. Charles S. Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad with manslaughter in connection with the wreck of two sections of the Springfield express at Westport on Oct. 3, 1912, in which wreck nine persons were killed, was sustained by Judge Joseph P. Tuttle in the criminal side of the Superior Court today.

Arguments on the demurrer were made last week after the court had rejected the plan to jurisdiction made by counsel. Had the demurrer not been sustained, the expectation was that a date for trial of Mr. Mellen would have been set.

With the contention upheld by the court, counsel said immediately after the decision had been made that it remained with state's Atty. Judson to make the next move.

The demurrer set up that the complaint did not show wherein Mr. Mellen was actually responsible for the wreck of the train; that it did not show he set the fire which caused the death of one "Jane Doe," or that there was any connection between Mr. Mellen and the wreck.

No "Voluntary Manslaughter." In his memorandum the court said that the state's attorney claimed and intended to try to prove "voluntary manslaughter" on the part of the accused. That is, that the accused, his president of the company, charged with certain lawful duties, so negligently performed or omitted to perform those duties as to cause the death of a certain person.

"The information in fact," said the court, "alleges that the accused as president, 'willfully and feloniously did make an assault and did then and there willfully and feloniously choke, suffocate and burn Jane Doe by means of a fire in the car in which she was, and because of said mortal choking and suffocation and mortal burns, sores and wounds, Jane Doe then and there instantly died.'"

Charged Direct Acts of Violence. The court adds that the language of the charge is that of "voluntary manslaughter," and there is nothing in the information charging the accused with the neglect of omission of imposed duties in consequence of which Jane Doe lost her life; but instead it charges direct acts of violence producing that result, although in argument it was conceded that the accused was not within many miles of the scene at the time of the death of Jane Doe.

The court touching upon framing of complaints said it was still the law that "essential elements of the crime must be charged." Analysis of the information before it led the court to hold that the complaint did not apprise the defendant of the specific acts he was alleged to have committed and which caused the death of Jane Doe. The court finds on conceded facts that Jane Doe met her death in a railroad wreck at which the accused was not present.

MR. TARBELL THE PRESIDENT

A business meeting of the Guild of Boston Artists was held yesterday afternoon. It has now been incorporated ed under the laws of Massachusetts. The constitution was formally adopted at yesterday's meeting. The fiscal year will begin on May 1. It is expected to open the first exhibition about Oct. 1, 1914. The by-laws, as foreshadowed in a recent article in the Transcript, provide for two classes of members, active and associate. The associate members will have no votes, but they will have certain privileges, including invitations to all private views, and the right to a signed reproduction of a work of art by a member of the guild to be issued once a year. The temporary officers have been made permanent, as follows: President, Edmund C. Tarbell; secretary, Lilla Cabot Perry; treasurer, W. W. Churchill; board of management, the foregoing officers and Frank W. Benson, J. M. Garganelli, Bela L. Pratt and Charles H. Woodbury. It remains to decide upon the location of the galleries.

DISCOVERO COMES AFTER 3000 YEARS

Buffalo House Takes the Taste Out of Castor Oil

Since the earliest days of medicine chemists have been trying to take the taste out of castor oil. The secret has at last been discovered by Spencer Kellogg & Sons of Buffalo, who are among the largest producers and refiners of vegetable oils in the world. They have removed the castor oil taste and smell, too, purifying the oil and making it better and more effective. Nothing is added to it, nothing taken out of it. Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is tasteless in the true sense. Even children take it easily for all the nauseating effect is removed.

Sold now at all drug stores in 25c and 50c sizes. Ask for Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil by name, for there are several preparations of castor oil, mixed and flavored which are not tasteless and do not act as well. The public is protected by the trade mark, a green castor leaf, bearing the signature, Kellogg's.

Made only by Spencer Kellogg & Sons, Inc., Buffalo, New York, oil refiners.

TO AID FITZ JOHN PORTER'S WIDOW

A strong effort will be made by Senator du Pont of Delaware, a member of the military affairs committee of the Senate, to have a bill passed at the present session of Congress giving Mrs. Harriet Pierson Porter, widow of Gen. Fitz John Porter, a pension of $50 a month. Porter was a major general of volunteers in the civil war and served gallantly. He was deprived of his rank following a court-martial for conduct at the second battle of Bull Run, but later was retried and reinstated by act of Congress.

It is said that Mrs. Porter's income is now not more than $250 a year. She has an invalid daughter to support.

At the last session a similar bill failed to pass because it was shown that Mrs. Porter was receiving an income of $1,500 a year. Since then, however, her investments have turned out badly, and she has been reduced to an income of $250 a year. She has hardly enough money to purchase for herself and her daughter the necessary food and clothing.

KING GEORGE TAKES A HAND IN HOME RULE BILL

London, March 10.—The possibility of a settlement of the Irish Home Rule controversy was again today in the forefront of popular interest. The opinions of the various parties as to the effect of the concessions offered in the House of Commons yesterday by Premier Asquith differed widely. The Unionists, as a rule, expressed themselves unsatisfied with the suggested method of voting by counties on the exclusion of Ulster, or portions of it, from the operation of the Home Rule bill.

Nationalists on the other hand, declared that the cabinet had gone to the limit toward conciliation. The independent opinion of the country seems inclined to the feeling that the concessions really offered an opportunity for conciliation, and this feeling is strengthened by Sir Edward Carson's counter offer on behalf of the Ulster Unionists to submit the suggested concessions to an Ulster conference providing the limitation on the exclusion of the northern counties to a period of six years be struck out. It is pointed out here in parliamentary circles that the recognition by the cabinet and the Nationalists of the principle of the counties of Ulster if they vote in favor of it, even if the exclusion be only temporary, is a great step in advance from last year's policy of "full steam ahead." The attitude of the cabinet and the Irish Nationalists, it is argued, allows for negotiations during the three weeks for which the debate on the Home Rule bill has been adjourned.

King George is believed to have had a hand in inducing Premier Asquith to make the proffered concessions, and it is contended that if His Majesty continues his activity in this respect the two parties may be enabled to bridge over the differences separating them.

The stumbling blocks in the way of a settlement of the Irish question are the "die hard" Unionists, who want a general election at any cost, in the hope of defeating the Government, and there are also the Nationalists who follow William O'Brien, who are opposed to any kind of exclusion bill granted to Ulster. It is doubtful whether John E. Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, can carry the members of his party any further in the way of placating the Ulster Unionists.

Lord Macdonald, a Liberal peer who was permanent under-secretary for Ireland from 1902 to 1908, said today that the Government proposals seemed to furnish a basis for a settlement, while Lord Dunraven, Conservative Irish peer, expressed doubt whether Premier Asquith's offer would bring about a satisfactory solution.

APPROPRIATION BEING RUSHED THROUGH

Washington, March 10.—The rapidity with which Congress is disposing of the annual appropriation measures was cited today by smiling members as an indication of early adjournment. The agricultural bill was debated in the House today and probably will be disposed of this week. The rivers and harbors and the naval appropriation bills are to follow and have only four of the supply measures to be considered. These are the $1,000,000 diplomatic and consular bill which is now prepared, and awaiting consideration, the legislative, executive and judicial bill, carrying approximately $40,000,000 the sundry civil bill, estimated at $110,000,000, and the $170,000,000 pension bill.

Count Fifty! No Rheumatic Pain

Rub pain away with a small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil"

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism! It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. "St. Jacobs Oil" conquers pain. It is a harmless local rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn or discolor the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia and rheumatic swelling.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness.

BATTLESHIP GUNS TO HIT AIRCRAFT.

Two 3-inch guns for attacking aircraft and which are said to be capable of sending projectiles to a height of more than 10,000 feet at the rate of twelve or fifteen a minute are among the novel features of the new British superdreadnought battleship Iron Duke, which goes in commission today.

London, March 10.—A militant suffragette inflicted severe damage today on the famous Velasquez picture known as the "Rokeby Venus," which is hung in the National Gallery, Trafalgar square. The picture was purchased for $235,000 in 1908 and presented to the nation.

The woman entered the gallery and attacked the picture with a sharp knife, making six or seven bad cuts across the principal part of the painting. She was arrested.

The perpetrator of the outrage was May Richardson, who had been sentenced to several terms of imprisonment since the beginning of the women's suffrage militant movement. It was she who was arrested at Bristol on July 1 last year, for dropping a scroll of paper on the knees of King George as he was driving through the city. For this she served three months' imprisonment.

She was arrested again in November, on suspicion of burning a house at Hampton, but immediately started a hunger and thirst strike and was released a few weeks later, in a serious condition of health.

The National Gallery was temporarily closed by the authorities after the outrage. Many of the public art collections, such as those at Hampton Court Palace, and especially galleries where valuable porcelain is on exhibition, were closed a year ago on account of militant suffragettes, and have not been opened since.

A GIGANTIC HOAX

That Amused Paris—Celebrating the Educator of Democracy

Paris was mightily amused over the hoax on senators, deputies and municipal councillors, perpetrated by a writer in the Electeur, Paul Briaud. The hoax was not entirely fair, but there was fun in it notwithstanding, for a number of politicians, one of whom is a former prime minister, agreed to inaugurate a monument to a celebrity that never existed. They did not for a moment suspect that they were invited by the bogus secretary of a bogus committee to preside over the inauguration of an imaginary monument to a bogus celebrity.

Paul Briaud set out with the postulate that too many statues are being erected all over the country to obscure heroes; too many official speeches are made to celebrate intellectual nonentities, and radical politicians generally are the blindest leaders of the blind. Not having any particular celebrity to glorify, he invented one, and called him Hesperus Simon. No such man ever existed, but he described him in his letter as a most wonderful precursor of modern light and progress. To give his letter a certain importance he headed it with a remarkable motto, to the following effect: "Darkness fades when the sun rises," representing it as the most remarkable dictum of the remarkable Hesperus Simon. Under this glorious motto he placed the title of his bogus committee, which he dubbed, "Public committee for the celebration of the centenary of Hesperus Simon." He addressed the names of 100 radical deputies in alphabetical order, and sent them each a letter in which he said: "Thanks to the liberality of a generous donor, the disciples of Hesperus Simon are now enabled to erect a statue in his honor. We desire to inscribe your name as an honorary member of the committee to celebrate the centenary of this great educator of democracy."

It was not long before he received replies. The idea of a precursor and an educator of democracy appealed to the deputies. He must have been a great man, they argued, and forswore M. Briaud received letters of acceptance from Paul Monnier, M. Dailhe and Felix Claumont. He then sent out a second circular, in which he mentioned these three popular radicals as having already adhered to his committee, and replies came in from six other radical deputies, namely, Francois Bluet, Henri Combes, M. Dailhe, M. Haudou, Alfred Le Roy, Rene Desnard (a former minister) and from M. Franklin Baulieu, who caused the fall of the Briand ministry. But M. Franklin Baulieu made a mistake, and sent a line to recommend his son to Col. Leba, M. Briaud then wrote to 100 senators, and immediately received a reply from 15, including the names of M. Sarrien, former prime minister, the scholarly M. Lantier, M. d'Amny of the diplomatic service, and the polytechnician M. Almond, who all expressed their eagerness to be present at the inauguration of the monument to the unknown celebrity Hesperus Simon.

A circular letter to the municipal councillors of Paris brought a reply from three councillors, who also agreed to be at the ceremony in honor of the alleged precursor and educator of democracy. M. Briaud then considered that he had gone far enough with the joke.

"I might," he says, "have assembled the unfortunate senators and deputies and municipal councillors round the pedestal of a monument erected for the occasion. Half a dozen of them would no doubt have delivered impressive speeches, based on bogus information supplied by me, and a member of the cabinet would probably also have been present. But I had done enough."

Two NIGHTS JOYOUS REVELRY.

The P. A. C. minstrel presents this season a performance fashioned on the lines of real old-fashioned minstrelsy. There will be no mechanical effects in the way of "gigantic stage settings" or electric light displays, but they claim that their "best play" will be the brightest, most "wonderful" and most pleasing they have ever given. Twelve end-men will "principle" will furnish the "joyous revelry," and a specially selected orchestra of twelve pieces and a chorus of thirty voices will provide the musical part of a program which cannot fail to please all lovers of this typically American form of entertainment. Portsmouth, Theatrical, Monday and Tuesday evenings, March 10 and 17.

The President's Urgency.

The Constitution empowers the President to recommend to the consideration of Congress "such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient." Hitherto, when a President has sent to Congress his recommendation, in the form of a message, he has uniformly assigned a reason why the action suggested should be adopted.

For the first time in our history the extraordinary spectacle is witnessed of a President asking Congress to repeal a law, and not telling that body why, in his opinion, they should do it. President Wilson's appeal of last week is mysterious. Of the relief to our coastwise vessels from paying toll, for passing through the Panama Canal, he says, that the measure, which received full consideration and almost unanimous approval, should now be repealed. "We ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong."

This is a strange dictum. It is almost incredible that Congress, like school children, should be addressed in this manner. "Ought" is a word that demands the setting forth of a strong and a convincing reason. Why should Congress ignore the question of right or wrong in their construction of the language of the treaty?

The President concludes with these words, of a hidden meaning:

"I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the administration. I shall not know how to deal with other matters of even greater delicacy and nearer consequence, if you do not grant it to me in ungrudging measure."

While this language conveys no reason, it is ominous. It intimates that serious trouble will overtake the administration, if Congress does not do as requested. One may read between the lines that the President is afraid of something. Has Great Britain let it be understood at the White House that affairs in Mexico will prove to be a source of grave results to the United States unless this canal toll law is repealed? Surely the United States has never before allowed a foreign power to dictate to us how we shall manage our coastwise trade.

It is all very well for American citizens to assume a silent attitude, and stand by the President in his dealings with foreign nations. Up to a certain point this reticence is always observed. But such a duty on the part of the citizen implies a like duty on the part of the President. He should let the country know why this sudden change of front is urged. Why reverse our settled policy, off hand, at the simple request of the President?

This unfortunate manner of recommending action without giving a reason, but with language that almost suggests a veiled threat from some quarter, will lead to wide-spread lack of confidence in the wisdom of the conduct of our foreign affairs. Is it that Great Britain requires Congress to take this step, or she will give us trouble in our dealing with the situation in Mexico? We hesitate to believe it.

The forthcoming debate in the Senate is likely to throw light upon the unprecedented state of things. No American who understands our coastwise trade, fails to see in this precipitous action of the President an injury to business; and what is more, the danger of further concession of our rights. It is a great mistake to adopt the policy that the President urges.

There are some persons who have permitted themselves to be governed by a sentimental impulse, and have thought it to be a noble act to give to Great Britain the benefit of any doubt they conceive to exist in construing the language of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. We think this is not the time to do what Great Britain never would do, were the case reversed. Such persons should remember that our country cannot afford to take a step, contrary to our interests, where the world sees, or thinks that it sees, a display of timidity on our part; a fear that Great Britain will not be with us in the administration disposition of "other matters of even greater delicacy."

The safe path for a country to pursue is ever that of standing firm for her rights. At all events, there should be no suspicion of yielding up a right because afraid to uphold it. We are sorry to observe in President Wilson's words a lack of virility. There is missing that note of firm reliance upon the sense of justice and fairness which it is only right to attribute to the deliberate action of Congress, confirmed, as it has been, by an expression of opinion from two former Presidents, and by the unmistakable language of the national platform of the Democratic party.

A majority in Congress may come to the rescue of the President, who knows how to bring pressure to bear upon members of his party whose convictions are hostile to his wishes. The foremost democratic leaders do not believe this step to be either necessary or wise. Whatever the vote may be, the fact will remain that never before has a President in a recommendation to Congress betrayed a trembling fear. May so pitiful an exhibition never occur again!

It is claimed that the stress and strain of American life develop insanity among immigrants. But is this unwelcome development confined to immigrants?

If reports of damage by frost are true southern vegetables will be apt to be a little higher than usual this spring.

SALISBURY

GOES 'DRY'

No License Forces Win at Town Election by Majority of 35.

The voters of Salisbury on Tuesday overruled the license vote of last year at the annual election and declared for no license by a majority of 35 votes and in consequence Salisbury Beach will be "dry" this summer. Two hundred and one citizens registered their votes for no license, and 166 voted license while 31 refrained from voting either way on the question.

Arthur S. Hodgdon was the only member of the old board of selectmen re-elected, Roy L. Babson being defeated while John A. Stevens, the other member of the 1913 board who ran for highway surveyor was defeated by a narrow margin by Nicholas T. Gelschell.

The two new members of the board elected were John Q. Evans, who has been a prominent leader in the fight against the project of having the town appropriate funds to build new roads at Salisbury Beach, and Frank A. Sanborn.

Girls have made several shirt waists which are practical, durable, neat, stylish and durable and are well worth the time and effort spent upon them. The literature class with Miss Helen Walker as teacher is also popular and have included the English authors' works as well as our own Kate Douglas Wiggin's pleasing sketches.

The embroidery class is very interesting and enjoyable and many new stitches have been taught. Some beautiful pieces have been accomplished. Miss Margaret Goodwin is the embroidery teacher. A refreshment committee furnishes refreshments each time.

The dramatic class was a great success resulting in the presentation of the four-act play, "Rosemary." Mrs. Leon Chauvelot was dramatic instructor. All the merchants and friends of the club made the production the one success that it was.

The Millinery class will start on Thursday evening. Each girl must bring needle, thread, strong thread, braid or silk to cover the frame and the frame. Miss Katherine Keefe is in charge.

The dressmaking class will start on this Wednesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock. Girls bring their material, trimming, and some simple pattern, unless you have had previous experience in dressmaking.

The monthly business meeting followed by a specially arranged program are always enjoyed and well attended.

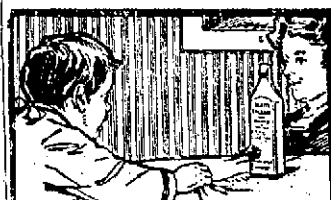

The socials, dances, entertainments and card parties are very pleasureable.

The monthly baked bean supper held the last Saturday evening of the month always draws a good attendance of the down-town girls and men who are out Saturday night.

On Sunday afternoon a series of reading hours and musicals have been given and some of the best Portsmouth talent has presented the entertainment. Other times refreshments are served and a social time enjoyed. The girls can go up to the club room from two to five on Sunday afternoons, and read the books and magazines and enjoy singing and playing. A chaperon presides at these Sunday afternoon socials.

Three dances have been held in the club room and one big dance in Freeman's Annex, for the benefit of the girls going to New York and a substantial sum realized.

CURRENT OPINION

Injustice to Compel Men to Work More Than Six Days a Week.

What we need is a law which shall make it an offense punishable by fine or imprisonment for workmen to be required to work more than six days in any one week. Of course some exceptions may be necessary, but as a general proposition the health of the community requires that the workmen shall have opportunity to rest one day out of seven, one day to enjoy God's sunshine and have reason to feel that the American enjoys a measure of freedom and happiness that is not enjoyed by any other workman. Ours is the most prosperous country on earth, and we want our workmen to enjoy their full measure of this prosperity.

I hold that those who work seven days a week are not in a condition to appreciate the spirit of liberty and justice on which this government was founded. I hope that the New York labor law will include all workmen in its provisions for one day of rest out of seven and that other states will enact legislation providing that workmen shall have the opportunity to rest one day a week. Surely those of you who read the newspapers which recently have published the fact that three hundred and twenty-five thousand men were out of jobs in New York City, cannot see the necessity for employing men seven days in a week.—John Mitchell, Former President of the United Mine Workers of America.

"A World of Girls."

The girls are planning a series of teas, card parties and dancing assemblies to be held in the near future. Another big dance will be held in Freeman's hall after Easter which is anticipated with much pleasure.

The New York convention which will be held in May is the topic of the members' conversation at the present time. Six delegates will attend and twenty-eight girls are planning to attend.

THE PUBLIC IS QUICK TO LEARN

A traveling man, discussing a certain branded ware made by a rival of his concern, said:

"It is really remarkable, but it is a fact that nine people out of ten who go into a store and pick up a piece of this ware ask if it is 's.'"

The name he mentioned was that of his own concern—one that has made known by advertising for 100 years.

The advertising of his concern's ware has been backed up with unusual merit.

The ware is as good as it is well known.

Yet others are naking ware which is probably as meritorious—but which the public is chary about buying. Purchasers have to be convinced of its merit.

Advertising has made the other ware the standard of its kind—the public has come to think of the trademark in connection with the article.

The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, wants to help general advertisers to use newspaper advertising to better advantage.

WORTH KNOWING.

In Saxon bord means shield. In the Viking ships each warrior hung his shield on the side of the ship opposite to him, and above the aperture for his oar. The Viking held the steer oar, which was fastened to the right-hand side of the stern (stern is itself a contraction of steer oar). The right-hand side of the ship thus became the steer side, and as board came to mean the whole side where the shields or boards were hung, the right-side came to be the steerboard (starboard) side, and the lower or lurking side became larboard.

HENNIKER MAN WAS MURDERED

Inquest Shows Position of Body Makes Suicide Theory Impossible.

Charles A. Manley of Henniker was murdered at his home Sunday morning by unknown person or persons was the decision given out Tuesday evening by Robert C. Murchie, county solicitor and Chauncey Adams, medical referee, as the result of the inquest which have been held during the last two days.

The case when first taken up by the medical referee, gave the appearance of a suicide, and he so stated, but when he became aware of the conditions, he ordered an inquest and as a result it has been decided that it was a case of murder.

Suspicion was aroused because of the position of the body, which was lying on the bed with the head practically shut away by the discharge of the gun. It was evidently held close to the neck under the jaw.

The gun used was a double barrel affair and examination showed that one of the barrels had been discharged and in the other was a loaded shell. Manley's body was found lying under the bed covering so it would have been impossible for him to have worked the trigger with his foot.

The housekeeper told that Manley came home drunk Sunday morning at 4 o'clock and on his arrival ordered her and the children to the upper part of the house. This was reached through a scuttle in the ceiling. She at once put the children to bed, but she remained awake. She heard Manley moving about the room below and at 4:30 a shot rang out. Fearing to investigate she remained there until daylight, when on opening the scuttle she saw Manley lying on the bed dead. Shouting through a window, she attracted the attention of a neighbor who notified the authorities of the shooting.

She says she heard no one running away after the shot was fired, although she had heard steps before.

A WAY IS FOUND TO INSTALL METERS

City Council Tell Board of Public Works How to Do It Without Bond Issue.

Among the items in the appropriation bill for the water department passed by the Council on Monday evening was Meters, $17,700. This is an item which has been discussed by the past two city councils, and the Board of Public Works have advocated a bond issue of $25,000 for this work for some time.

The provision in the bill provides for the meters, but instead of a bond issue it takes the amount necessary out of the income of the water department, so that in reality it is no appropriation at all.

Mayor Yeaton put the matter up to the finance committee, with the argument that the Board of Public Works now had on hand $10,000 and with this and money received from sale of meters the work could be done. The plan of the Board is that where ever a meter is installed a yearly rental of $1.00 shall be charged on the property owner. This being the case, the meter company is given the option of purchasing the meter for $10. It is apparent that the greater number will purchase the meter outright, rather than pay a dollar a year, so that at least sixty per cent will immediately purchase their meters. This being the case, the meters can be installed, with the $10,000 now available, and the money received from the meters, estimated at $7,700. The idea of the Mayor and Finance Committee is that the work could be let out by contract to one of the meter companies, and that the work could then be done much cheaper.

and faster than by the water works crew.

The Mayor claims that there is no need whatever for a bond issue for this work, especially as much as asked for.

Another matter put up to the Board of Public Works is the water rate that has been charged in the past for the schools. The rate has always been 15 cents a thousand, whereas private corporations in the city were paying but 7-12 cents a thousand. The committee go on record as being in favor of the schools being allowed as low a rate as the corporations and with this in view, have appropriated $271.72 for water rentals based on this rate.

What the Board of Public Works will do in the matter is a question. They are not obliged to install the meters on orders from the Council, but are sure of one thing, that no bond issue will ever be considered. The Board meet this evening and the matter will probably be given consideration.

McCLURE CASE DECLARED CLOSED.

Unless specifically directed by President Wilson, the War Department will not accept the case of James W. McClure of Paris, Ky., who was excluded from reappointment as a cadet at the West Point Military Academy, thereby leading his father to prefer charges against Major General Thos-mas H. Barry, former superintendent, and Major Fred W. Stadden, commandant of cadets, of making false official statements in the matter. Senator Dwyer, who had interested himself in the case, has been informed by the War Department that the academy board reported that McClure had resigned his cadetship to escape trial, which fact had been regarded sufficient to warrant the disapproval of his application for a new appointment.

Hinds had refused to allow his name to go before the primaries on account of ill health. I called Mr. Norton, editor of the Evening Express, that I was sorry that Mr. Hinds could not run again and that if on my return the Republicans of the First district wanted me to enter the contest I would do so. The announcement of Mr. Hinds' withdrawal came to me as a surprise, and I had had no intention of contesting the nomination with him. On my return to this country ten days ago I learned that Mr. Hinds had decided to run again if not opposed for the nomination. I believe that the next election will be a vitally important one for the Republican party. I believe that we Republicans will have to make the fight of our lives, and that we should enter the campaign with united forces. Under the circumstances, while I confess I am somewhat surprised at the change in Mr. Hinds' plans, if it seems best that Mr. Hinds should have the nomination without opposition, I shall certainly cheerfully acquiesce and shall not be the one to bring about a fight in the primaries.

SPEAKS ON THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Washington, March 10.—All the influence of the Administration in the Senate and elsewhere, will be exerted to counteract the effect upon public opinion of the speech of Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico upon the Mexican question. Not even during the sensational days preceding the war with Cuba was such an awful picture of murder, robbery and outrage painted as that sketched by Mr. Fall before his astonished colleagues. The Senate was prepared to take him seriously, for he is the best informed man in Washington upon life and conditions in northern Mexico. He had kept silent for months through the influence of Senator Lodge and others of the Committee on Foreign Relations, who feared that his story might embarrass the Administration in its efforts to find a peaceful way out of the Mexican trouble. But the latter-coming support of the President has softened a little of late, when it has become evident that both the White House and State Department are more eager to excuse and palliate the acts of the Mexican bandits than to let the American people know the truth.

Senator Fall's Information.

Through intimate personal acquaintance with residents of Mexico, Senator Fall had accumulated a mass of information regarding outrages upon men, women and property in the rebel states which may not be matched by anything in the files of the State Department. Secretary Bryan has pursued a consistent policy of suppression of news regarding Mexico ever since he assumed office. President Wilson, gaining information through John Lind and William Bayard Hale, and refusing even to talk with many other persons who could have spoken for all facilities, has been content to keep the public as much in the dark as possible. But for an enterprising public press, the people would know nothing of the horrors of the Mexican rebellion, and the policy of watchful waiting would not be upon the rack.

With the most circumstantial detail Senator Fall has exposed the brigand operations of the cut-throats who are masquerading as constitutionalists under Villa and Carranza. The details are so sickening that the faces of senators, blanched with horror as they listened, and hardly a man stirred in the great chamber while Mr. Fall was speaking.

The Story of Durango.

An incident of the occupation of Durango, typical of many such assaults upon peaceful communities, throws a flood of light upon the character of the warfare being waged against humanity in the Mexican republic. When the rebel troops entered the town the commanding officer gave his men twenty-four hours in which "to do as they pleased." They looted banks, stores and residences, assaulted men and outraged women and children. One witness alone, Senator Fall said, informed President Wilson that he personally had seen twenty-two attacks upon women in the streets. The officer in command was reconstituted with by the foreign colony and met with the cold statement that no soldier could be punished for any violation committed within the twenty-four hours. The outrages continued and the complainants were again told that the troops could not be controlled after the twenty-four hours had expired. The venerable Senator Weeks of California, who always is heard with the greatest respect, arose in his seat and solemnly combated every word Senator Fall had stated of the occupation of Durango.

One of Villa's Villainies.

Villa opened his campaign with stolen money, shot captured troops at Torreon rather than feed them, and permitted such excesses among his troops as the Mexicans have made an art. Senator Fall described many incidents in the personal life of Villa, of which only one need be cited to indicate the unspeakable character of the man. Domingo Flores of El Paso, with a partner had been engaged in smuggling arms to the rebels. The firm had been enticed with 10,000 pesos with which to buy arms. The partner decamped with 3500 pesos, leaving Flores to account for the defalcation. Flores went to Juarez to explain to Villa, who threw him into jail until the 3500 pesos should be restored. The aged mother of Flores went among her friends and, selling her little home, raised 3200 pesos, which she took over to Villa. The bandit took the money but informed her that her son must remain in jail until the remaining 300 pesos was paid. A sister of Flores then by heroic exertions raised the 300 pesos and took it to Villa. He sent her to the jail to see her brother, whither she went expecting him to be released. At the jail Flores was shot dead and the sister outraged and told by Villa to go back to El Paso and not to cross the river again.

Germany's Grim Warning.

Men and it hard to sit calmly by and listen to stories like these and to realize that through permitting such outrages upon American citizens the United States Government, in both the Taft and Wilson Administrations, has excited the contemptuous surprise of the world. Senator Fall drew impressively upon the Benton incident and intimated that the first real interest manifested by this Government over the killings in Mexico followed the murder of a British subject. And he quoted warningly to the Senate from the German press, inspired, the senator stated, by the Government, the notice to the world that should a German subject suffer in Mexico the pacific example of England in the Benton case would not be followed.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back Color, Gloss and Thickness with Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop itching itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, coming about 30 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dabbin a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

TWELVE-INCH GUN EXPLODES

Forty officers and privates of the Coast Artillery headed by Lieutenant Colonel Babitt, were in danger yesterday afternoon when a twelve-inch coast defence gun exploded at the Sandy Hook proving grounds. The cause assigned was that a new kind of powder which was being tried for the first time was faulty. Only one was hurt. He is Lieutenant William A. Pendleton, Jr., who was in charge of the firing squad of eight men, and who was the only one present exposed to the flying fragments when the cannon blew up with a mighty roar. He was standing on the wooden bridge thirty feet high running back of the gun mounts and used for observation purposes. A small fragment, probably a bolt, struck him in the left leg and inflicted a cut so severe that he was sent to the post hospital.

The explosion occurred at a quarter after two o'clock on the ocean side of the proving grounds, where the Government's big guns are put through their paces before they are set up for coast defence work. The gun that exploded was not a new one and had stood several severe tests, so it was picked out yesterday for a demonstration of a new powder that the War Department is trying. Lieutenant Pendleton and his men loaded the twelve-incher with a charge of the size used for other powder and then the spectators took their places in the concrete protection pits. Lieutenant Pendleton, field glasses in hand, mounted the wooden observation lower about a hundred feet to the rear of the gun, gave the charge, fixed his glasses and ordered "Fire!" Big guns at the Hook are discharged by an electrical apparatus which is worked from the protection pits so that none of the squad is in danger. The electrical part worked all right, but the charge of powder was too heavy and the gun was blown into a million pieces.

Lieutenant Pendleton kept his feet long enough to see the spray as the projectile struck the water about a mile out to sea. When the storm of steel and iron had spent itself Colonel Babitt, who was behind the concrete less than 100 feet away, and his fellow officers ran from their places to see what damage had been done. The gun had virtually disappeared, the stationary carriage was destroyed and the huge breech block was nowhere to be seen. The officers hurried first to aid Lieutenant Pendleton, who was bleeding considerably and were relieved to find that his hurts were slight.

The breech block, weighing 300 pounds, was found later embedded in the sand about half a mile from the spot of the explosion. In its course it had hit a heavy wall of concrete, behind which a dozen men were crouching, and partly demolished it. The wall was strong enough to stand the blow and to send the block rebounding down the beach, hitting it a surface now and then like a stone "skipped" on a pond and finally burying itself in the sand.

NEW HAMPSHIRE BANKS SUFFER?

Cooper, Caught in Texas, Is Said to Have Fleeed Them.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 11.—C. S. Cooper, under arrest in San Antonio, Tex., as a forger, was alleged yesterday by the manager of a bank detective agency to be wanted here for illegal check and draft operations which netted him several thousand dollars. According to the same authorities, Cooper, who was believed to have been drowned in the Hudson river two years ago, has been operating for 15 years in many states. Banks in New Hampshire and New York and various parts of the country it was said, have paid him close to $50,000.

CHURCH NOTES

Items of Interest in the Several Religious Bodies of the City.

The Golden Rule Church of King's Daughters of the Middle Street Baptist church held a business and social session in the annex on Monday evening.

The Walker Mission Band, connected with the Middle Street church, held its regular meeting at four o'clock in the chapel on Tuesday. Miss Nellie Stiles presided.

The class meeting of the Methodist church was held in the vestry on Monday evening at 7.30.

The pastor's instruction service was held at the Middle Street church on Tuesday evening at 7.10 and was very successful.

The Junior Auxiliary of Christ church met on Tuesday evening at 7.30.

The program on China under the auspices of the Woman's Baptist Missionary society will be presented on Wednesday evening, March 11th, at the chapel of the Middle Street Baptist church. The program has been published.

The Standard Bearers of the Methodist church met in the vestry Monday evening. The following program in charge of Mrs. Harvey Buzarth and Miss Elsie Davis, was presented:

Singing.
 Responsive Reading.
 Prayer.

Vocal solo, Miss Elsie Robinson
 Reading, Mrs. Lyle Galtier
 Vocal solo, Miss Gertrude Brille

Readings by several members.
 Piano duet, Misses Elsie Davis and Vocal solo, Harry Crossley

A social hour was then enjoyed and refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, fancy wafers and cocoa served by Mrs. Harry H. Crossley and Miss Marguerite Jenness.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet in the vestry on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The Junior Young People's Union of the Universalist church met in the vestry on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock and was well attended.

The Ladies' Missionary society of the Pearl Street Free Baptist church will meet on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Plummer of Good things are always at the Scenic, at least that is what our regular patrons say. Today we offer another installment of "Our Mutual Girl." This week she gets into difficulty with the detectives who are following a smuggler. She finds a pearl necklace in her muff and all sorts of complications result. A great deal of interest in this picture. Don't miss it. Then we have "The Guerrillas of Algiers," a three-part feature full of thrilling deeds and packed with fascinating and interest compelling scenes. "The Heart of a Woman," a three part full of pathos. "The Hidden Cue," and another Keystone comedy, "Kid Auto Races at Venice." Then Miss Belle Barron is singing "At the Old Wishing Well." Another two and one-half hour show. A great many parties are being made up for next Tuesday evening, March 17, to visit the Scenic.

Haynes avenue. The Inamuch Circle of King's Daughters connected with the North church met on Tuesday afternoon. The regular routine work was accomplished, followed by a social hour and refreshments of hot chocolate, tea and fancy wafers served. Mrs. Morgan Duda was hostess in charge, ably assisted by Mrs. Norman Beane and Mrs. Everett Fisher.

The Sunday school class under the leadership of Mrs. E. C. Matthews of the North church met in the chapel on Tuesday evening and organized the class under the name of the M. M. S. S. club and elected the following officers:

Honorary president, Mrs. E. C. Matthews.
 President, Mrs. Noah Faust.

Vice President, Mrs. R. E. Hannaford.
 Secretary, Mrs. Horace Locklin.

Treasurer, Mrs. Elias Emery.
 The hospitality and calling committee were chosen and plans for a fund sale to be conducted in the near future were made.

The hospitality committee presented a very pretty feature on Wednesday evening when the chapel was decorated in Japanese lanterns. The attendants were also dressed in Japanese kimonos. Refreshments of tea, hot chocolate and fancy wafers were served.

TOTAL ECLIPSE COMES TONIGHT

Astronomers Plan to Study Fainter Stars Near Midnight.

There will be an eclipse of the moon, almost total, tonight. Astronomers at the Naval Observatory at Washington prepared last night to take advantage of the opportunity for special observation during the eclipse.

It was pointed out that fainter stars than are normally observed for purposes of occultation observations are more readily seen during an eclipse, and that they are of great importance in correcting the lunar tables.

The shadow of the earth will not entirely cover the moon but at the middle of the eclipse more than nine-tenths of the moon's diameter will be in the shadow. The moon is due to enter the shadow, according to reckoning, at 9:11 8-10 o'clock tonight, Eastern standard time; should reach the middle of the eclipse at 11:12 9-10 o'clock and leave the shadow at 12:14.
